John Madigan of Tonopah has just recovered sufficiently from injuries sustained in a runaway stage accident to be discharged from the Sisters' hospi-tal in this city. It was the Tonopah stage, and the cause of the runaway was whisky, of which the stage driver had imbibed altogether too much be-fore starting out. Jehu proved unable to handle the jag and the horses at same time, and in consequence while going down grade, the stage got away from him, and then the horses took also to flight, and an upset fol-lowed as a matter of course. Mr. Madigan caught onto the ribbons, and managed to hold the horses back, although his shoulder blade was splintered and arm broken, and the runaways were stopped. His arm was set by a local oked, and on Mr. Madigan's arrival in this city, he was in pretty bad shape. Dr. Mayo had to break the shoulde fracture again and reset it, and now the shoulder is pretty near itself once

Chief Devine's Salary Raised $600 Yearly Board of Education Offers $25,000 for Tenth Ward Square.

Another attempt was made upon the official head of Chief Hilton last night by the mayor and his supporters in the council, but the same solid eight votes, which have rendered good service to Hilton heretofore, came to the rescue and the matter was referred to the committee on police and prison.

THE MAYOR'S COMMUNICATION. The matter was brought up early in the session under the head of reports of city officers, when the following communication from the mayor was

"I hereby, with your consent, remove Mr. Thomas H. Hilton, as chief of po-lice of Salt Lake City, for the good of the service." I am very respectfully, "EZRA THOMPSON."

Councilman Robertson moved that recommendation be concurred in Fernstrom moved as an amendment hat the matter be referred to the comnittee on police and prison. Robertson opposed referring it to the committee as nothing could be gained by such action, as that committee had already concurred in the previous re-commendation on that matter. The police department is in confusion be-cause of the lack of harmony between he mayor and chief, and members of the department are not disciplined and

He said that knowledge of this fact had gone out and the result is that is more crime in this city than ver before. The majority of the counil has endeavored to take the responsibility of these conditions from the mayor. It is understood that the present chief will not be permitted to fill ertson concluded by saying that if the nen who are antagonizing the mayor desire to serve the people they had bet-ter reconsider their action and concur in the action of the mayor.

REFERRED TO THE COMMITTEE. The communication was referred to was expected that Fernstrom would vote with the mayor in the matter but there must have been some misunder standing as he voted with the solid eight as he has done from the com-mencement of the fight. The mayor was somewhat vexed over Fernstrom's action, as he would not have sent in the communication if he had not been led to believe that Fernstrom would sup-

The mayor announced in a communiappointment Wood to be assistant fire chief. Robertson moved that the communication be filed as the council could not override the mayor's veto. Fernstrom thought different about the matter. He thought that nothing in the whole city government made the mayor absolute He said that the veto was unjust, it gave no reason for the disapproval, and, according to the papers, was based merely upon the man's politics and not on his fitness for the position. He contended that the veto should be voted upon. Eardley and Cottrell favored a vote also, but the communication was ordered filed without a vote as to whether the council shall confirm the appointment over the mayor's veto.

Daveler favored the purchase of a ladder truck, to cost $4,500, in addition to the engine and moved that the item be inserted in the report. He made a strong talk in favor of the motion, stating that the truck now used was obsolete and that a new one was absolutely necessary in order to be better equipped to save life in case of a large fire. He didn't think that the administration would be considered extrava-gant if it voted to purchase such a nefar more important than the saving of property. AMUSEMENTS.

These are red letter nights at the Salt Lake theatre, and the lover or the student of the drama who allows this week to pass without visiting the historic playhouse at least once, will ong have occasion to regret it simply the perfection of art that Mr. Willard and his group of players repre sent, and gazing upon their delightful rendition of plays like "The Cardinal," and their no less delightful interpretation of a comedy, which forms its very antipodes—"The Professor's Lo Story," one's fancy goes back with bound to the old legitimate days of the Sait Lake theatre, when everything that is high, noble and purifying had its place upon the stage, and the modern forms of trash and emptiness were things unknown. That Mr. Willard ould step from the robes of the stately ardinal of four centuries ago, into the othes of the dried-up, but delightfu old professor of today, is the highest evidence he could give of his versatility and genius. Last night's creation was not a whit less remarkable for its faith fulness, accuracy, and artistic finish than ever we look forward with keen relish to the anticipation of his "Tom Pinch" and "David Garrick." The sup orting company showed to beautiful advantage, Miss O'Malley as Lucy, Miss Mary Linden as Agnes, Mr. Cane as Dr. Crozens, Mr. Homewood as Sir George, and Miss Laura Linden as the dowager, were all polished instances of acting, while the Scotch trio of Miss Dennett, Mr. Stallard, and Mr. Barfoot vas full of richness; a more delightful
